

GREEK LITIGANT IN MURDER TRIAL

Brother of Man Killed Says the Quarrel Was Begun in Old Country.

INTERPRETERS DISAGREE
ACCUSE EACH OTHER OF GARBLED QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Mike Getis, brother of Peter Getis, who was killed at Bingham, Dec. 23, was the star witness in the state yesterday against Peter Kothlitzky, charged with murder. Quarrels which dated back to days in Greece were described. Getis told, through the medium of an interpreter, Charles Soter, of sleeping with his brother in their hut; of the brother getting up early in the morning, when he heard someone outside, and of the fatal shooting.

In court yesterday there was much contention between Soter and Ernest Pappas, interpreters, which ended in making Soter interpreter for the state and Pappas for the defense. With one always checking the other, the most careful answers were read into the record.

When Getis was turned over to the defense for cross-examination, Attorney Samuel A. King took him through the years of the past, of the troubles in the old country, of his coming to the United States two years ago, and of the recent trouble. But in the main the murder upon Kothlitzky and declaring that the defendant fired the first shot, could not be shaken.

There was a legal battle when Getis tried to tell what his brother had told him when he was brought back to the court after having been mortally wounded. It was finally allowed to go into the record. The dying statement was that Kothlitzky had done the shooting and that Getis had not shot at him at all.

Dr. C. N. Ray, surgeon for the Utah Copper company, described Getis' three wounds. He said he believed three bullets had struck Getis, but afterward admitted that the third bullet, which was in the arm might also have made the wound in the side.

Defense claims that defendant fired only twice, and not until Getis had shot at him. Many witnesses are to be heard and the trial may last two weeks.

AERIAL CLUB PRESIDENT TO GIVE LECTURE

A lecture, free to the public, on "Aerial Transportation," will be given by Dr. Adolf Brodbeck this evening at the club room of the Y. M. C. A. building. The lecture is given under the auspices of the students' council of the association institute, and will be open to all who are interested in the latest development in transportation. Dr. Brodbeck is president of the newly-organized Aerial Club of Utah, and also is the inventor of air cars, a type of cars half-way between the ordinary rail coaches and the flying machines. His years of research and study and practical application will make this lecture one of much interest.

This is the first of a series of lectures to be given by the educational department of the Y. M. C. A. along various lines of industry, commerce, economics, sociology. The single series of lectures which proved most popular last year, and which will be repeated this season in a varied form, is the mining series, discussing the various popular features of the chief industry of the intermountain region.

It is surprising to note that not only does this firm clean and dye wearing apparel, but articles of household utility, which are made of textile fabrics, also fur and feathers, and even French dry cleaning with hydrate ammonia, a patented process which the Regal company has adopted. The Regal company is the only method for cleaning clothes. Many skeptical persons are under the impression that a dry cleaning process means just a brushing and shaking, and not only means a dusting and renovating, but a thorough cleaning with gasoline.

The Regal company has the most modern machinery procurable for the work, machinery which was installed at tremendous cost, but which is capable of turning out a great deal of work. A dry cleaning renders clothes as good as new and saves the sender the price of a new garment.

A great machine resembling a huge double wheel in construction and carefully padded on its hollow interior so that it would be impossible to injure the most diaphanous fabric, revolves gently and slowly, and the clothes are placed in it then put into a great gasoline washer containing a device which revolves first one way and then the other, and washes with gasoline and hydrate ammonia. After this process they are thoroughly dried.

$500 REWARD.
For the capture of Dolly Dimples, The Herald-Republican will pay the following rewards:

$500 in GOLD if the captor shows Miss Dolly Dimples a reward of $500. The Herald-Republican will pay up to Oct. 15, 1910, and a copy of The Herald-Republican of the day's issue, and use the following words of identification: PARDON ME, YOU ARE THE MYSTERIOUS MISS DOLLY DIMPLES OF THE DAILY AND SUNDAY HERALD-REPUBLICAN.

$200 in GOLD if the captor shows Miss Dolly Dimples a paid-up subscription receipt to The Herald-Republican to Nov. 25, 1909, and a copy of The Herald-Republican of the day's issue, and use the following words of identification: PARDON ME, YOU ARE THE MYSTERIOUS MISS DOLLY DIMPLES OF THE DAILY AND SUNDAY HERALD-REPUBLICAN.

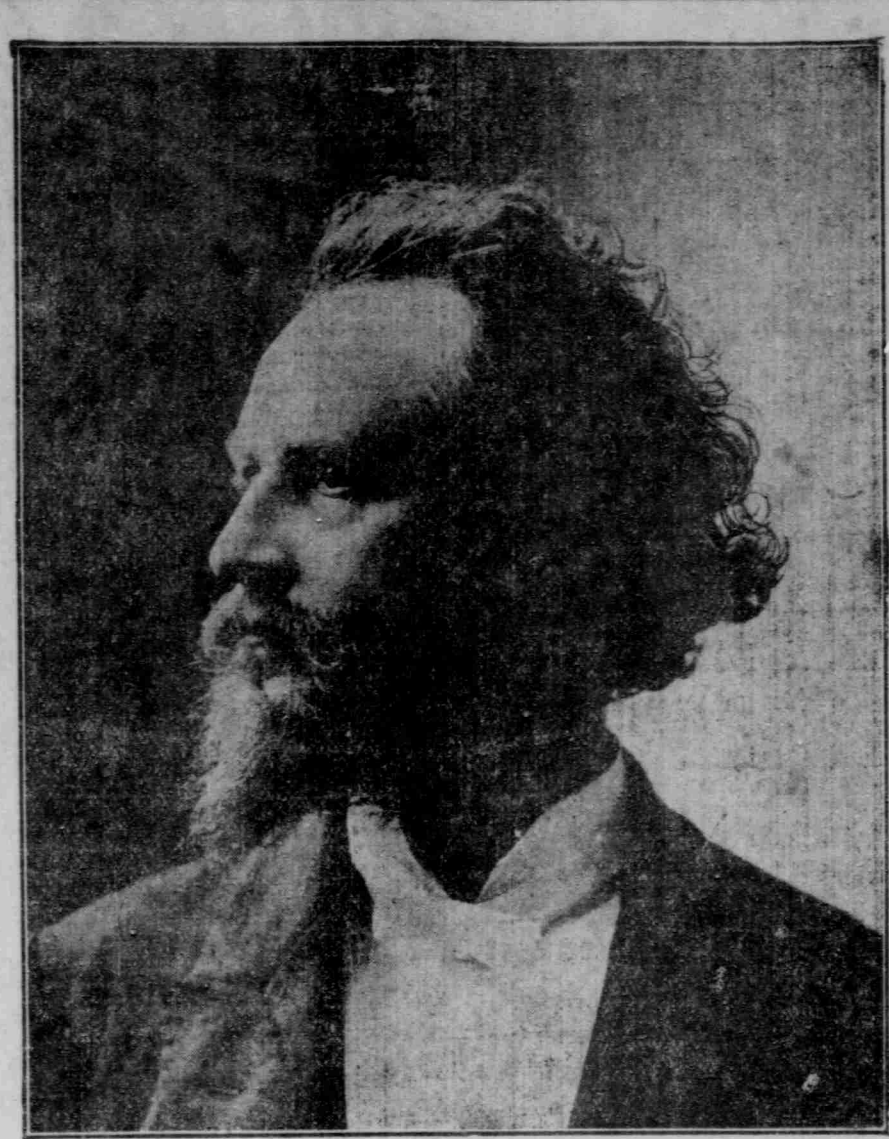

The reward is effective at all hours of the day and night after 11 a. m. From the time the paper is issued, 5 a. m. until 12 o'clock. If you have addressed Miss Dolly Dimples, using the exact words of identification, and hold the view of a paid-up receipt and copy of The Herald-Republican of the day's issue, she will at once admit her identity, take you to The Herald-Republican office and the reward will be paid.

When you arrive at The Herald-Republican office you will be required to make an affidavit that you have been a resident of Utah for the past ninety days. The reward will not be paid to any outsider, but only to a bona fide resident of the state of Utah. This rule effectively prohibits any color-baiting and makes the contest of skill absolutely fair and above board.

Boys under 18 years of age are also prohibited from securing the reward, and will not be recognized in the contest. The same rule applies to any person directly or indirectly connected with The Herald-Republican, or any member of his or her family.

There is a chance for some person to display cleverness and at the same time secure a free gift of one of the three rewards.

Miss Dimples will positively not recognize anyone detaining her for any length of time in order to procure a Herald-Republican, or any one in any way whatever who stops her longer than a reasonable period in order to regard the salary correctly. It must be distinctly understood that Miss Dolly Dimples will immediately admit her identity if correctly saluted. There will be no mistaking of her at any time, either between the hours that the contest is enforced or when it is not.

Immaculate Youth, Best Dressed Man in Courtroom, Admits Vagrancy.

Every once in a while somebody drops into police court and makes a hit. Roy Frederickson was the hit of the day in police court yesterday afternoon. At the call for Frederickson on a charge of vagrancy, there walked to the little railing a spick and span youth clad in fine raiment and wearing immaculate linen. A diamond of unquestionable purity gleamed in a silk neck scarf, and patent leather shoes with spats shone brightly. His clothes were undoubtedly of the $2 quality and his hands and face indicated plenty of leisure.

There must be some mistake," murmured Attorney J. A. Rogers as he investigated the complaint to make sure he wasn't dreaming. But no mistake appeared.

"You are charged with vagrancy. What is your plea?" tersely asked the court. "Guilty," was the response of the gilded youth.

Attorneys and attaches of the police court gasped for breath. The plea of guilty was entered and a "finder" sentence given. Court officials are still wondering why a man wearing $50 worth of clothes should plead guilty to vagrancy.

"RAGGED ROBIN."

"Ragged Robin" is the play that is different. This departure from the usual dramatic type is the keynote of the production in which Chauncey Olcott is playing the stellar role. It is a unity of comedy, fantasy, poetry and song. It has the charm of minstrelsy, the fascination of fairy lore and the human interest of true love story. The play suits the peculiar talents of Chauncey Olcott better perhaps, than any that has been written for the popular actor. It is essentially Irish in atmosphere and temperament and is fitted to the personality of the actor, giving scope for the display of his versatile gifts.

"Ragged Robin" combines a rarely patented love story with the world of fairyland. Humans and the "little people" play their various roles, but the fairy element is incidentally and not the main element of the plot. It is a real element of the true Celt, and this belief, embodied in the play, gives it its rare and unusual character. It is the legend of the fairy well that casts a spell upon the play. "These waters bring union to lovers. If a man and a maid drink one after the other, the fairy spell shall bind them together through life and through death."

When the exquisite simplicity and beauty of the play have been noted, when it is remembered how the Salt Lake theatre has been so long a place of comfort and how splendidly the production is staged, there remains for consideration that feature of Chauncey Olcott's dramatic work for which he is best known. His singing of the beautiful Irish songs which are his own composition, puts him in a class by himself. Romance, pathos, tenderness in exquisite melody grip the heart. Each is worthy of mention, but "Sweetest" is the song which he sings that will be best remembered. Mr. Olcott sang this one again and again and the lines as he sang them were called back at the close of the last act.

It is said that a production of Augustus Pugin was the first of the kind in the country. Certainly this holds true in this presentation of "Ragged Robin." No more beautiful effects have been seen in the theatre of the Salt Lake. The production of the first act and it brought a round of applause. The transformation scene of the last act is also a masterpiece, and every setting is up to the standard.

Of the company there can be only words of praise. Each part is filled with a sense of the play. Among the stars should be mentioned the Marguerite of Roy and the dramatic queen of Mark Price. Josie Claffin in the role of Beth Meahan was a favorite from the first. The play is a masterpiece, which the pathos of the play demands. Also there is Comrade by himself. He is a lovely character, and his part is a small part in the play. When Robin is urged to give up his wandering life and to settle down, he is called back to the sympathy of the audience is with the play.

"Ragged Robin" by Chauncey Olcott is a noteworthy dramatic event. Those who fail to see it are losing a rare treat. The play is open to the public. There will be opportunity Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee at the Salt Lake theatre.

BUNGALOW THEATRE.

Vaudeville of decided merit was put on the Bungalow theatre last night, marking a change in the management. The new syndicate so far as Salt Lake is concerned. The various acts are of a high class and the management is of a superior manner. Among the stars should be mentioned the Marguerite of Roy and the dramatic queen of Mark Price. Josie Claffin in the role of Beth Meahan was a favorite from the first. The play is a masterpiece, which the pathos of the play demands. Also there is Comrade by himself. He is a lovely character, and his part is a small part in the play. CHURCHES TO GET LYRIC.

Definite announcement has been made that the Lyric theatre will open as a church on Monday night, Nov. 8, at 8 o'clock. The play house will only be the temporary home of the Shubert firm, but it is to be built soon to house the independent plays.

The work of remodeling the Lyric, which was begun the first of this week, is being rushed to completion. The chairs for the remodeled play house have arrived from the east and will be installed within a few days.

Contracts for several high class plays have been signed by Howard Garret and forwarded to the Shuberts. Following "The Gay Musician" the attraction will be "The Man From Home," which will be presented on Nov. 24, 25, 26 and 27. This is the Leiber & Company production, which secured a success in New York during its run of two years.

Other attractions that have been secured are "Jefferson Dangle," "The Beauty Spot," "Lady of Dreams," "The Motor Girl," "The Girl in Waiting," "The Dance Around the Fire," "The Love Watch," "Wilton Lackaye in 'The Battle of Marston,'" "The White Sister," and "The Dawn of Tomorrow."

Jacob Shubert of the Shubert firm is expected in Salt Lake in about two weeks and at that time something definite may be announced with regard to the new playhouse.

FOR THEFT OF FURS.

Prisoner Pleads Not Guilty, but Is Placed Under Bond.

Jack Johnson, charged with the theft of furs valued at $40, the property of Miss Mamie James, entered a plea of not guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. He was placed under $500 bond for his appearance Nov. 20.

Will Hensel was found guilty of battery, it being proven that he had struck T. A. Link on the jaw after an argument over a bill. Time for sentence was fixed for today at 2 o'clock. The altercation took place Oct. 22, at the corner of Second and Main streets.

some clever foot work. The Pantage-scope completes the program. Sutton and Sutton, in a comedy singing and contortion act, entitled "The Rub, the Girl and the Pumpkin," announced as the headliner, failed to appear. The blame was laid to the haggardness at the last stopping place. The act will appear tonight.

"THE SOUL KISS."

"The Soul Kiss" and success are synonymous. This widely heralded musical offering will be seen at the Salt Lake theatre next week and it is safe to say that it will be greeted by capacity audiences, judging by the business done elsewhere. Pertina, the European-famed danseuse, a cast of marked excellence, and a "Broadway Beauty Chorus," such as has been known to the Salt Lake theatre, are the principal features of this mirth-making and melodious attraction. The sale of seats opens at the box office today.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

Mrs. John Reed, one of the best known women of the city, will appear in this afternoon's program at the Orpheum. She will give two readings with a musical accompaniment. Mrs. Reed is well known and has a splendid reputation. With the conclusion of the performance tomorrow night the bill now running will be "The Sunny Side of Broadway," a new program headed by the famous Spanish dancer and pantomimist, Rosaria Guerrero.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

You have three more chances to see Max Bloom, Al Harrison and E. E. Coughlin, comedians at the Colonial this week. The comedy parts are taken care of in "The Sunny Side of Broadway" and there is a lively chorus.

"THE TIME, THE PLACE AND THE GIRL."

One reason why the musical comedy, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which comes to the Colonial next week, is so successful is that it is a reasonable comedy with real music in it. Each part is filled with a sense of the play. Among the stars should be mentioned the Marguerite of Roy and the dramatic queen of Mark Price.
